Bill has been at the forefront of the office leasing and development sector in Scotland for over 25 years. Throughout his career he has worked with occupiers (e.g. BBC, Royal Bank of Scotland, Hymans Robertson, Ignis Asset Managers), developers (e.g. BAM Properties, Goodman International, Redevco, Stockland) and funders (e.g. HBoS, RBS, Deutsche Bank, Scottish Mutual, ING) in creating or acquiring office buildings.

Recent notable projects include PPG's 141 Bothwell Street (178,000 sqft), the first building in Glasgow to achieve a BREEAM "Excellent" Award, and Elphinstone Group's 300,000 sqft City Park development, a BCO Regional Award winner.

Bill has a thorough and intimate knowledge of the development process and how buildings need to work for the benefit of the end user whilst maximising returns to those providing the skills and finance in their creation.
