

JOIN A BCO EXPERT COMMITTEE

The BCO's mission is to research, develop and communicate best practice in all aspects of the office sector. To support this key objective the BCO has an extensive research programme which is widely respected both by its members and external audiences.

WHAT'S INVOLVED

BCO research is produced by our expert committees which are made up of our members. It is the role of each expert committee to identify the issues which are most important to the office sector and to address those issues.

Those wishing to join a BCO expert committee must be members of the BCO and able to attend regular committee meetings.

Membership of each committee is reviewed on a regular basis to ensure that there is a good balance between the necessary skill sets required by each group. We cannot guarantee that you will be placed on a committee, but all applications will be put forward when a space becomes available.

Information on the membership and terms of reference for each research committee can be found on the BCO website.

Membership applications are welcome for the:

- Research Committee
- Technical Affairs Committee
- Urban Affairs Group
- Environmental Sustainability Group and
- Occupier Group
