

JOIN A BCO REGIONAL NEXTGEN COMMITTEE

The BCO's mission is to research, develop and communicate best practice in all aspects of the office sector. It delivers this by providing a forum for the discussion and debate of relevant issues.

To support this key objective the BCO has different committees which work under a number of remits including research, regional and international specific areas and the next generation of BCO membership.

WHAT'S INVOLVED

The primary role of the regional NextGen Committees is to promote the role of the BCO to young members and champion a new generation of up and coming talent in the office sector. They do this by organising a variety of activities, which are tailored to the interests of young professionals and designed to complement the national work of the BCO. Activities include, but are not limited to:

- Delivery of a series of activities throughout the year that are of particular interest to the next generation
- Promotion of BCO NextGen membership and other activities to support membership growth through the events programme
- Acting as a NextGen representative of the BCO in the region
- Driving the delivery of an annual NextGen awards programme and other initiatives, designed to support young professionals and recognize their achievements
- Engaging with the national Committees, Management Executive and to influence BCO strategy.

Those wishing to join a NextGen committee must be members of the BCO and able to attend regular committee meetings (frequency depends on committee chair but is generally monthly or bi-monthly).

Membership of each NextGen committee is reviewed on a regular basis to ensure that there is a good balance between the necessary skill sets required by each group. We cannot guarantee that you will be placed on a NextGen committee, but all applications will be put forward when a space becomes available.
